Implementation date: 1st January 2008

History of the classification:

The predecessor of ITO was the Domestic Product Classification (BTO) based on NACE Rev. 1.1 (TEÁOR'03), which was in effect until 31 December 2007.

ITO has been in effect since 1 January 2008, it was drawn up on the basis of NACE Rev.2, CPA 2008 and the PRODCOM List. ITO is annually revised according to the changes in the PRODCOM List. From 1 January 2016 the basis of ITO at 6 digit level is CPA'15.

Structure:

The structure of the 12-digit codes:

- 1-4th digits identical with the Statistical Classification of Economic Activities in the European Community (NACE Rev.2.)
- 1-6th digits identical with the Classification of Products by Activity (CPA)
- 1-8th digits corresponding to PRODCOM, in case of “HU” item codes are formed by HCSO

- 9th digit is a possibility for further demolition in case of “HU” item codes, if 7th and 8th digits are reserved for PRODCOM codes
- 10-12th digits indicate the unit of measurement

Short description:

The Hungarian Classification of Industrial Products (ITO) is a hierarchical classification containing products and services. ITO is the domestic version of PRODCOM list issued by Eurostat. ITO is used for observing industrial products and services.

Field of application:

The „Annual statistical survey of production” (1039 OSAP) monitors the production and sales – in volume and value – of industrial products and services according to the ITO classification.

Relationship with international classifications:

The ITO classification bases on the PRODCOM list of industrial products published by Eurostat.
